VOLUME XXVIII—1983

A

Alcoholism as a human factor. Signe I. Lindell and Richard E. Miller. Feb. p. 26.

Audiometric testing—A guide for evaluating programs. Lee J. Huber. Feb. p. 17.

Australian looks at loss control, An. Frank E. Davis. Oct. p. 37.

B

Benefits from your risk control program. Gerard C. Coletta. Mar. p. 34.

C

Central risk organization, The. William E. Coleman Sr. Aug. p. 18.

Consider a safety audit program. George Swartz. April p. 47.

E

Emergency assistance planning for rural industrial fires. Paul N. Hale, Jr. and John R. Cochran, Jr. July p. 35.

Employee involvement: Its implications for improved safety management. H. Harvey Cohen. June p. 30.

Energy conservation hazards in buildings: How to recognize and evaluate potential fire hazards of building materials. Lawrence E. Oldendorf. Oct. p. 13.

Enlarging the focus on motor fleet safety. Stanley A. Abercrombie. July p. 15.

F

Flammable liquid safety: Don't get burned in storage and handling. Arthur M. Stevens. Oct. p. 17.

G

Grooving can reduce accidents. Joseph A. Kurtz. May p. 30.

H

Hearing loss—Is it only the tip of the iceberg? James W. Nutter. Feb. p. 13.

How hazardous is harvesting the sea? Richard J. Gleason. Nov. p. 32.

Human factors and the "umvelt" hazard. Donald F. Jones. July p. 31.

I

Injury management and cost control. D. W. Frazier, M.D. May p. 36.

Intrinsic robot safety. Hadi A. Akeel. Dec. p. 27.

L

Loss control in the computer room. David W. Klonicke. April p. 17.

M

Managing in today's environment. Alan Young. Sept. p. 41.

Measuring safety performance (A management guide). Stephen V. Magyar, Jr. Nov. p. 18.

Microcomputers and the safety professional. Rick Cumming III. Aug. p. 22.

Modern approach to injury record keeping, A. Guy Fragala. Jan. p. 21.

N

New dimension in safety application, A. Hillman Deaton. Feb. p. 30.

Nonoccupational disabling-injury costs. L. M. Blankenship. Aug. p. 27.

O

On- and off-the-job safety. Michael J. Lacivita. Oct. p. 44.

P

Pesticide safety and health. C. Saran, Linda L. Sims, Paul M. Hughes, and Stephen A. Adam. Feb. p. 20.

Plant manager: A personal involvement in safety, The. Kurt H. Frank. April p. 13.

Potential accident analysis. George R. Kinsley. July p. 25.

Proposed Standards for construction practice in excavation. Felix Y. Yokel and Riley M. Chung. Sept. p. 34.

Putting a dent in the major causes of accidents. Eric W. Jensen. May p. 33.

R

Risk and safety value analysis. Harold E. Roland. Sept. p. 26.

Robots are coming . . . and taking over the hazardous jobs nobody wants, The. Parvez Salim. Mar. p. 17.

Robots—Safe or hazardous? Wain W. Stowe. Dec. p. 32.

Robot safety/collision avoidance. John Meagher, Steven Derby, and James Graham. Dec. p. 14.

Robot safety considerations—a checklist. John W. Russell. Dec. p. 36.

S

Safeguarding metalcutting machines. Joseph W. Hart. Jan. p. 13.

Safety—A global concern: Developing safety programs for multinational corporations. David T. Stamm. July p. 21.

Safety for industrial robotic applications. Kirby G. Griffin. Dec. p. 22.

Safety for robotics. Ronald D. Potter. Dec. p. 18.

Safety is a duty—of management, labor and government. Robert E. Harner. Nov. p. 13.

Safety management accountability process: An effective approach at Du Pont. Ned K. Walters. Aug. p. 35.

Safety performance analysis. R. E. Earnest. April p. 21.

Safety program practices in record-holding plants. H. Harvey Cohen and Robert J. Cleveland. Mar. p. 26.

Safety promotion campaigns can work: One company's success story. Gaylene M. Parmenter. June p. 15.

Strategy for improving safety problem solving, A. D. Keith Denton. June p. 25.

Safety issues related to synthetic fuels facilities. Summary report prepared by the Committee on Synthetic Fuels Facilities Safety of the National Research Council's Engineering Board. June p. 19.

Systematic safety analysis of asbestos disease and its prevention. Barbara J. Peters. May p. 21.

T

Team approach chalks up safety gains at underground coal mines. Noel Milan. Nov. p. 26.

Ten-point scale for workplace hazards, A. C. Ray Asfahl. Jan. p. 17.

Total approach to back injury control, A. Bruce A. Lepore and Chris N. Olson. Jan. p. 25.

Trial lawyers: Effective industrial safety engineers. Browne Greene. Jan. p. 30.

W

What to do about injury costs: Developing and administering an effective workers' compensation program. Kim E. Anderson. Aug. p. 13.

Workers' compensation claims relating to heat and cold exposure. Roger C. Jensen. Sept. p. 19.

Worker/employer training in occupational safety and health: A summary of OSHA's efforts during the period 1971-1981. Earl D. Heath. April p. 50.

FIRE PROTECTION

Planning for Fire Safety

Emergency assistance planning for rural industrial fires by Paul N. Hale, Jr. and John R. Cochran, Jr. July, pp. 35-38

Energy conservation hazards in buildings: How to recognize and evaluate potential fire hazards of building materials by Lawrence E. Oldendorf. October, pp. 13-16.

MANAGEMENT ASPECTS

Accident Investigation And Analysis

Human factors and the "umvelt" hazard by Donald F. Jones. July, pp. 31-34.

Modern approach to injury record keeping, A, by Guy Fragala. January, pp. 21-24.

Potential accident analysis by George R. Kinsley. July, pp. 25-29.

Strategy for improving safety problem solving, A, by D. Keith Denton. June, pp. 25-28.

Ten-point scale for workplace hazards, A, by C. Ray Asfahl. January, pp. 17-20.

Administration of Safety and Heath Management

Injury management and cost control by D. W. Frazier, May, pp. 36-38.

Plant manager: A personal involvement in safety, The, by Kurt H. Frank, April, pp. 13-16.

Managing in today's environment by Alan Young. September, pp. 41-45.

Microcomputers and the safety professional by Rick Cumming III. August, pp. 22-26.

Safety is a duty—of management, labor and government by Robert E. Harner. November, pp. 13-15.

Safety management accountability process: An effective approach at Du Pont by Ned K. Walters. August, pp. 35-38.

Safety performance analysis by R. E. Earnest. April, pp. 21-24, 45-46.

Safety program practices in record-holding plants by H. Harvey Cohen and Robert J. Cleveland. March, pp. 26-33.

Fleet Management

Enlarging the focus on motor fleet safety by Stanley A. Abercrombie. July, pp. 15-20.

Program Development

Consider a safety audit program by George Swartz, April pp. 47-49.

Employee involvement: Its implications for improved safety management by H. Harvey Cohen. June, pp. 30-35.

Measuring safety performance (A management guide) by Stephen V. Magyar, Jr. November, pp. 18-25.

New dimension in safety application, A, by Hillman Deaton. February, pp. 30-35.

On- and off-the-job safety by Michael J. Lacivita. October, pp. 44-46.

Putting a dent in the major causes of accidents by Eric W. Jensen. May, pp. 33-35.

Safety—A global concern: Developing safety programs for multinational corporations by David T. Stamm. July, pp. 21-24.

Safety promotion campaigns can work: One company's success story by Gaylene M. Parmenter. June, pp. 15-18.

Total approach to back injury control, A, by Bruce A. Lepore and Chris N. Olson. January, pp. 25-27.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Australian looks at loss control, An, by Frank E. Davis. October, pp. 37-52.

Benefits from your risk control program by Gerard C. Coletta. March, pp. 34-38.

Central risk organization, The, by William E. Coleman Sr. August, pp. 18-21.

Nonoccupational disabling-injury costs by L. M. Blankenship. August, pp. 27-34.

Risk and safety value analysis by Harold E. Roland. September, pp. 26-29.

What to do about injury costs: Developing and administering an effective workers' compensation program by Kim E. Anderson. August, pp. 13-16.

Workers' compensation claims relating to heat and cold exposure by Roger C. Jensen. September, pp. 19-24.

Safety Training

Worker/employer training in occupational safety and health: A summary of OSHA's efforts during the period 1971-1981 by Earl D. Heath, April, pp. 50-55.

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH/INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE

Health Hazards in the Workplace

Alcoholism as a human factor by Signe I. Lindell and Richard E. Miller. February, pp. 26-28.

Audiometric testing—A guide for evaluating programs by Lee J. Huber. February, pp. 17-19.

Hearing loss—Is it only the tip of the iceberg? by James W. Nutter. February, pp. 13-15.

Pesticide safety and health by C. Saran, Linda L. Sims, Paul M. Hughes, and Stephen A. Adam. February, pp. 20-24.

Safety issues related to synthetic fuels facilities. Summary report prepared by the Committee on Synthetic Fuels Facilities Safety of the National Research Council's Engineering Board. June, pp. 19-24.

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY

Special Industries

Proposed standards for construction practice in excavation by Felix Y. Yokel and Riley M. Chung. September, pp. 34-39.

Team approach chalks up safety gains at underground coal mines by Noel Milan. November, pp. 26-31.

How hazardous is harvesting the sea? by Richard J. Gleason. November, pp. 32-35.

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY

Hazardous Material

Flammable liquid safety: Don't get burned in storage and handling by Arthur M. Stevens. October, pp. 17-21.
Systematic safety analysis of asbestos disease and its prevention by Barbara J. Peters. May, pp. 21-27.

Machinery

Intrinsic robot safety by Hadi A. Akeel. December, pp. 27-31.
Robot safety/collision avoidance by John Meagher, Steven Derby, and James Graham. December, pp. 14-16.
Robot safety considerations—a checklist by John W. Russell. December, pp. 36-37.
Robots are coming . . . and taking over the hazardous jobs nobody wants, The, by Parvez Salim. March, pp. 17-23.
Robots—Safe or hazardous? by Wain W. Stowe. December, pp. 32-35.
Safeguarding metalcutting machines by Joseph W. Hart. January, pp. 13-16.
Safety for industrial robotic applications by Kirby G. Griffin. December, pp. 22-26.
Safety for robotics by Ronald D. Potter. December, pp. 18-21.

Plant Layout & Design

Loss control in the computer room by David W. Klonicke. April, pp. 17-20.
Grooving can reduce accidents by Joseph A Kurtz, May, pp. 30-32.

PRODUCT DESIGN & SAFETY

Product Liability

Trial lawyers: Effective industrial safety engineers by Browne Greene. January, pp. 30-33.
